No. 7.—The following appeal issued by His Excellency the Viceroy in connexion with the recent earthquake is published :—

HIS EXCELLENCY THE VICEROY'S APPEAL.

A very serious calamity has recently overtaken a large number of our fellow countrymen especially in the Provinces of Bihar and Orissa as a result of a severe earthquake which was experienced last Monday afternoon in a moment of time. Whilst no statistics of ruin are as yet forthcoming it is no exaggeration to say that there has been an appalling loss of life countless homes have been destroyed and over a wide area property and possessions have been annihilated and have ceased to exist. At such a time I feel confident that the sympathy of all classes of the people in this country goes out to those who have been involved in this great disaster and that efforts to alleviate their sufferings will meet with a ready response. I have therefore decided to set up a fund which will be known as the "Viceroy's Earthquake Fund." Subscriptions should be sent direct to the Private Secretary to the Viceroy, Viceroy's House, New Delhi, and will be acknowledged individually.

PRESS COMMUNIQUÉ.

Fort St. George, January 10, 1934.

No. 28.—

The Government have recently received very many representations dealing with the Land Revenue Settlement and claiming that the present low level of prices justifies a great reduction in land revenue—sometimes estimated at 50 per cent or more. Many of the statements made therein are incorrect or very much exaggerated; it is impossible to deal with them in detail; but the Government desire to remove some important misconceptions as to the principles on which the settlement of the land revenue is based, and the position resulting from the fall in prices.

2. Some facts regarding the land revenue settlement are given below:—

The Settlement department was started in 1858. Before that date, the Government tried to collect land revenue on the basis of the assessments levied by the native rulers from whom the East India Company had taken over the administration. It was found that these assessments were too high: and it was also found that an accurate survey and settlement were necessary to ensure that the assessment should be fairly distributed among the ryots. So the Settlement department was formed. The most striking result of its early work was a considerable drop in the average assessment per occupied acre. The rules which guided the first officers of the department are substantially those still in force to-day. The object continues to be the assessment of each holding with reference to two main factors, its size and its net productive capacity. For the correct estimation of the size of each holding a revenue survey of the whole Presidency has been carried out and has been revised as occasion has necessitated. The estimate of the net produce is made by the Settlement department.

There are two principles that govern all the processes gone through at a settlement. One is that the assessment is on the land and does not depend on the kind of crop grown (except that on wet land the assessment includes a charge for water) or on the caste and circumstances of the person who holds the land. The Settlement Officer's first duty was to classify the various kinds of soil in the tract to be settled with reference to their productive capacity. For this purpose soils are divided into series with reference to the obvious characteristics known to every cultivator, e.g., the black cotton soil of the Ceded Districts is put into one series and the red soil found all over the Presidency in another. These series are further subdivided with reference to the amount of clay or sand which they contain, and experiments have been carried out over a fixed area of each of the kinds of soil to determine its productive capacity. In early settlements these experiments were very elaborate. As many as 2,000 plots were sown with paddy on wet land and the selected main food crop of the tract on dry land and the crop produced on each plot estimated. As a result of these experiments the Settlement Officer was in a position to calculate with fair accuracy the normal yields to be expected from an acre of each of the various kinds of soil found in the tract under settlement. These figures expressed in Madras measures of 120 tolas are called the grain outturns. They were converted into money values, not at the current prices prevailing at the time of settlement as these might for various reasons be abnormal but at the average of the prices of twenty non-famine years immediately preceding the settlement.

The second principle governing the settlement comes into operation at this stage. The data so far obtained would enable the Settlement Officer to estimate in money the gross produce of each holding, but this is not his ultimate object. His object is to estimate the net produce, i.e., the clear profit accruing to the cultivator after all contingencies have been allowed for. Deductions are, therefore, made from the gross outturn to represent—

(1) an allowance for carriage of the grain to the nearest market;
(2) an allowance for merchant's profit;
(3) an allowance for vicissitudes of seasons;
(4) an allowance for unprofitable areas such as bunds and channels included in holdings;
(5) the cost of seed;
(6) the cost of ploughing cattle;
(7) the cost of agricultural implements;
(8) the cost of manure; and
(9) the cost of labour.

A percentage deduction varying from 10 per cent to 27 per cent was made from the conversion rates to cover the cost of carting the grain to the nearest market and the profits of the merchants who buy it. When this deduction has been made the figure obtained is known as the commutation rate.

Another percentage deduction varying from 6¼ per cent to 25 per cent was then made as an allowance for vicissitudes of seasons and unprofitable areas.

The remaining deductions are grouped under the head of cultivation expenses. They were carefully and liberally calculated, expressed in terms of money, and deducted from the figure previously arrived at.

When all this had been done the Settlement Officer could fix the assessment on any given holding. He knew the area of the various fields or subdivisions included in it, the sort of soil to be found in each of them, and he had estimated the money value of the net profit per acre accruing from their cultivation. Fifty per cent of this net profit was claimed as the maximum Government share. But if the villages in which these lands are situated were in the case of wet lands served by irrigation sources which did not contain an absolutely assured supply all the year round, or in the case of dry lands lay far from markets or roads, the assessment was much reduced.

Much misunderstanding prevails about this 50 per cent net figure. In the first place, the figure only applied to a part of the land assessed, i.e., those lands that lie in villages most favourably situated for carrying on agriculture and disposing of the crop. Land not so situated was more lightly assessed. In the second place, Government's 50 per cent share even on the most favourably situated lands was in practice considerably less. In every calculation made by the Settlement Officer the cultivator received the benefit of the doubt. It was assumed for instance that he grows on his dry land the staple food crop of his district, but he may grow a valuable industrial or garden crop yielding a much higher gross outturn and a proportionately higher profit. He may have no unprofitable areas in his holding or these may be infinitesimal. It was assumed that he pays for labour to cultivate his lands; he may not do so. It was assumed that he manures his land, but if he does he may simply use the dung from his own cattle. His carriage expenses may be very small or he may be fortunate enough to have his market in his own village.

A resettlement is a fresh calculation of Government's share of the net produce. Where the ryot has sunk a well or made a tank to irrigate his land, the Government do not claim a share in the profits resulting therefrom. But where improvements of other kinds have been made, Government claim a share of the profits. For example, a railway is built through a backward tract of country. This opens up new markets and land is planted with valuable marketable crops. It is claimed that a moderate share of the profits so gained should go to Government. Government also claim a share in the profit resulting from a rise in prices, and for this purpose the commutation rate is calculated afresh from the prices prevailing in the ryots' selling months in twenty non-famine years during the course of the expiring settlement. (If prices fall, this recalculation would, of course, result in a reduction of the assessment.)

If strict theory were adhered to, a Settlement Officer's duty at resettlement would be to restore with reference to this revised commutation rate Government's share to its theoretical 50 per cent of the net profits. To do this it would be necessary to raise the rates in the proportion that the revised commutation rate bears to the original rate less a deduction for a proportionate rise in the cost of cultivation. In practice this is not done. Government have left with the ryot by far the greater part of the profit due both to generally improved economic conditions and to the rise in prices which has taken place during the currency of all settlements that have come up for revision. If the theoretical 50 per cent net share had been retained Government would have had to raise the assessments in such districts as Tanjore, East and West Godavari by 75 to 100 per cent. But since 1924, Governments have limited the enhancement to a maximum of 18¾ per cent; and even before 1924 enhancements went above 30 per cent only in rare instances and small areas.

This also explains why it has not been generally considered necessary at resettlement to make elaborate and expensive recalculations of cultivation expenses or grain out-turns. Any rise in the former or variation in the latter has been more than covered by the difference between the enhancement that could justifiably be made and the 18¾ per cent, that is the maximum enhancement that Government actually make.

3. Some of the statements recently made about land revenue assessment will now be considered.

(1) A speaker at a conference in Malabar recently described the ryotwari system as requiring "that the ryot should have only just sufficient to live upon till he got the next year's harvest and also enough for seed and other agricultural expenses." He said that periodical settlements are "required for the expropriation of accruing wealth of the ryot."

It is not true that in introducing the ryotwari system the intention of the Government was to keep the ryots at the border-line of subsistence. The authority quoted by the speaker (Mr. Thackeray, who wrote his report in 1807) was dealing with the question whether the ryotwari or the zamindari system was the best for Malabar. No one can read the writings of the early administrators (such as Mr. Thackeray, or Sir Thomas Munro) without understanding that in preferring the ryotwari system to the zamindari system they mainly regarded the "improvement and prosperity" of the people.

The periodical resettlements have certainly taken for the Government some part of the increase in the value of crops: but by far the greater part of that increase in value has gone to the ryots.

(2) The Malabar speaker referred to above said that the "greatest sufferers" from settlement operations are "the lowest classes, the untouchables and the labourers," since the result must be a fall in wages. On the other hand many representations received by the Government allege that agricultural wages have not fallen. It is not possible that both statements can be true.

(3) At the same conference in Malabar a number of speakers mentioned "hard cases" where the resettlement had resulted in a considerable increase in the assessment, mainly on account of the reclassification of "dry" land as "garden" or "wet." Not a single speaker referred to the concessions granted by the Government to ensure that the resettlement rates shall be introduced only gradually; and the Government have found that even well-informed persons have not made themselves acquainted with these concessions. The concessions are—

(a) The enhancement is introduced gradually so as to come into full effect only in the third year (where it is 18¾ per cent) or the fourth year (where it is 12½ per cent). (This concession was granted also in the districts of Kistna, East Godavari, and West Godavari.)

(b) Where the enhancement is due to reclassification, it is introduced gradually so that, where the enhancement is large, it will come into full effect only in the twelfth year.

(4) A printed representation of a Mirasidars' Association in Tanjore district speaks of "the present exorbitant and oppressive land revenue, increased almost cent per cent during the periodical settlement."

Whatever the meaning of this phrase is intended to be, it is a great exaggeration. In the Tanjore district, as is well known, the enhancement at the resettlement of 1924 was limited to a maximum of 18¾ per cent. Taking the Presidency as a whole, the average wet assessment per acre thirty years ago (in the fash (1903–04) was Rs. 5–9–9: in 1931–32 it was Rs. 6–6–1 the increase in these 30 years is thus 14 per cent.

For dry land the figures are:—

	Assessment per acre Rs. A. P.
1903–04	1 0 9
1931–32	1 1 8

The increase is 5·5 per cent.

The suspension granted for this fash includes 12½ per cent of the assessment on wet and garden land and 6¼ per cent of the assessment on dry land in areas resettled in and after 1918–19, and in the remaining areas 6¾ per cent on wet and garden land and 3¼ per cent on dry land: the effect of this reduction is to wipe out a great part of the increase.

(5) Some people have much exaggerated the fall in prices. A resolution passed in West Godavari district in November 1933 says—" The Government enhanced the land tax at the time of the resettlement on the basic value of Rs. 258 per garisa. Now the price of the garisa is below Rs. 50. "

The rate of Rs. 258 per garce is the commutation rate for the Godavari delta ascertained at the last resettlement, i.e., the average price of white paddy in the ryots' selling months for the 20 years ending 1922–23 minus 15 per cent on account of cartage and merchants' profits. (It is not really the " basic value " of the resettlement, but more will be said about that below.) The statement that the price of this garisa had dropped to below Rs. 50 is much exaggerated. The weekly prices in the West Godavari district in October and November 1933 give a commutation rate (worked out as above) of Rs. 141 a garce declining to Rs. 120 a garce.

(6) A resolution passed by a " Mirasidars' and Landowners' Association " in Tanjore in June last says that " the commutation rate of paddy on which the resettlement of this district is based " is Rs. 221 per garce, and contradicts a statement made by the Hon'ble the Revenue Member in the Legislative Council that the rate is Rs. 143 per garce. Here is found an idea which has been repeated in a number of other districts, for instance in West Godavari (see above). What are the facts?

It is quite true that the commutation rate ascertained by the Settlement Officer at the resettlement of Tanjore is Rs. 221 per garce. But is that the rate on which the resettlement is based? It is not. This rate would have justified an enhancement of the wet rates by 83 per cent: actually the enhancement was limited to a maximum of 16⅔ per cent. Thus the commutation rate on which the resettlement in Tanjore is actually based cannot be more than the commutation rate ascertained at the previous settlement plus 16⅔ per cent.; and this figure is Rs. 143 per garce.

4. It is, of course, the fact that the prices of agricultural produce in recent years have fallen steeply, in Madras Presidency as in the rest of the world. The level of prices for paddy in the main producing districts of this Presidency for the months January to November 1933 is almost exactly what it was 30 years ago, in fasli 1902–03. In the last 30 years, prices rose steadily from 1902–03 to about 1908–09, then fell slightly for three years, then recovered and remained fairly steady till about 1918–19 when they rose quickly to nearly treble the rates of 1902–03 in 1919–20; they then fell a little but remained very high till 1928–29, then began to fall, and in 1931 fell steeply. The prices of the ' dry ' food grains rose similarly, but have not fallen so low.

Thus agriculturists enjoyed a season of prosperity for 15 years, and for a few years made profits unknown before. The suddenness of the fall has made it very difficult for them to restrict their expenditure within the limits allowed by present profits. In addition, the rise in prices and increase of population caused a great increase in the area cultivated, and also caused many people who are not themselves cultivators to invest their money in land. The increase in the area of registered ryotwari holdings in the last thirty years is about 20 per cent: it can hardly be expected (however much the land revenue is reduced) that the cultivation of all this additional area will be profitable at present prices, and therefore it is to be expected that the less profitable areas will be given up. Non-cultivating investors who have put their money into land when prices were high are bound to find that the interest on their capital is much reduced just like people who put their money into other investments. The Government are well aware of the difficulties so caused to individuals. Nothing the Government can do will go very far to remove them till prices rise. But something has been done. The railway companies have been induced to lower their freights so as to encourage the movement of produce to the best markets (including Ceylon). The improvement of marketing is a big subject which is being taken up in collaboration with the Government of India. The encouragement of more profitable crops, especially sugarcane, in the place of paddy is producing results.

5. The Government received a very small portion of the great profits made in the ' boom ' period: and they might logically claim that they should not reduce the revenue until at future resettlements a reduction may be due on the prices of the current settlement period. Even a small reduction for the individual means a great fall in the Government revenue. An all-round reduction of 25 per cent (which has been proposed in the Legislative Council) would mean a fall of about a crore and a half of rupees. Even the concessions which the Government have now decided to grant in this fasli are estimated to cost about Rs 60 lakhs. In addition the Government have remitted the amount suspended in the last fasli, which is about Rs 33 lakhs. The loss of all this revenue will mean that many improvements which the Government contemplated for the benefit particularly of the rural population will have to be given up or postponed: and it is not possible to abandon or postpone for long such works as affect agricultural land without the ryot feeling the effects.

6. The concessions which the Government have decided to grant in this fasli are as follows :—

	Suspension till next fasli of
I. In areas resettled in or after 1918–19.
(1) Wet assessment—ryotwari	12½ per cent.
(2) Water-rate—ryotwari areas
(3) Water-rate—proprietary areas
(4) Quit rent on enfranchised Proprietary Estates Village Service inams—wet
(5) Land registered as garden—ryotwari
(6) Dry assessment—ryotwari	6¼ ,,
(7) Quit-rent on enfranchised Proprietary Estates Village Service inams—dry
II. In the remaining areas
(1) Wet assessment—ryotwari	9⅜ ,,
(2) Water-rate—ryotwari areas

(5) Lands registered as garden—ryotwari
(6) Dry assessment—ryotwari	6¼ ,,
(7) Quit-rent on enfranchised Proprietary Estates Village Service inams—dry

7. Though the crops this year have generally been, or promise to be, fair, some parts of the Presidency have suffered from floods, drought, or storm. The concessions mentioned above are not intended to be in substitution for the relief to be given in affected areas—that is, lands in these areas will be given (independently of the concessions mentioned above) the remissions which may be admissible under the Board's Standing Orders or any special orders of Government that may be passed

Angles at a point.

(a) If a straight line stands on another straight line, the sum of the two angles so formed is equal to two right angles ; and

(c) the converse.

(b) If two straight lines intersect, the vertically opposite angles are equal.

(c) When a straight line cuts two other straight lines, if,

(i) a pair of alternate angles are equal, or

(ii) a pair of corresponding angles are equal, or

(iii) a pair of interior angles on the same side of the cutting line are together equal to two right angles, then the two straight lines are parallel, and (*) the converse.

Straight lines which are parallel to the same straight line are parallel to one another.

Triangles and rectilinear figures.

The sum of the angles of a triangle is equal to two right angles.

(a) If two triangles have two sides of the one equal to two sides of the other, each to each, and also the angles contained by those sides, equal, the triangles are congruent.

(c) If two triangles have two angles of the one equal to two angles of the other, each to each, and also one side of the one equal to the corresponding side of the other, the triangles are congruent.

If two sides of a triangle are equal, the angles opposite to these sides are equal ; and the converse.

(a) If two triangles have the three sides of the one equal to the three sides of the other, each to each, the triangles are congruent.

If two right-angled triangles have their hypotenuses equal and one side of the one equal to one side of the other, the triangles are congruent.

If two sides of a triangle are unequal the greater side has the greater angle opposite to it ; and the converse.

Of all the straight lines that can be drawn to a given straight line from a given point outside it, the perpendicular is the shortest.

The opposite sides and angles of a parallelogram are equal, each diagonal bisects the parallelogram and the diagonals bisect one another.

If there are three or more parallel straight lines, and the intercepts made by them on any straight line that cuts them are equal, then the corresponding intercepts on any other straight line that cuts them are also equal.

Triangles on the same or equal bases and of the same altitude are equal in area.

Equal triangles on the same or equal bases are of the same altitude.

In a right angled triangle, the square described on the hypotenuse is equal to the sum of the squares described on the sides containing the right angle ; and the converse.

Easy exercises on the above.

The Circle.

A straight line drawn from the centre of a circle to bisect a chord, which is not a diameter, is at right angles to the chord, conversely, the perpendicular to a chord from the centre, bisects the chord.

There is one circle, and one only, which passes through three given points not in a straight line.

Equal chords of a circle are equidistant from the centre ; and the converse.

The angle which an arc of a circle subtends at the centre is double that which it subtends at any point on the remaining part of the circumference.

Angles in the same segment of a circle are equal ; and if the line joining two points subtends equal angles at two other points on the same side of it, the four points lie on a circle.

The angle in a semicircle is a right angle ; the angle in a segment greater than a semicircle is less than a right angle ; and the angle in a segment less than a semicircle is greater than a right angle.

The opposite angles of any quadrilateral inscribed in a circle are supplementary ; and the converse

STATISTICS—CROP GROUNDNUT—1933—FOURTH OR FINAL REPORT.

The average of the areas under groundnut in the Madras Presidency during the five years ending 1931-32 represents 51·5 per cent of the total area under groundnut in India.

2. The area sown with groundnut in the Presidency in 1933 is estimated at 3,830,400 acres. When compared with the corresponding estimate of 3,404,100 acres for the previous year and the area of 3,810,679 acres as per season and crop report of fasli 1342, this reveals an increase of 9 and 8·9 per cent respectively. The estimated area for this year is in excess of the normal area of 3,669,100 acres by nearly 5 per cent.

The increase was general outside Ganjam, East Godavari, Kurnool and Cuddapah.

3. The harvesting of the summer and early crop of groundnut was finished by October. The harvesting of the winter or main crop is proceeding.

The crop was normal or above normal in the Ceuris (Guntur excepted), Nellore, Coimbatore and the South (Tanjore excepted) and below normal in the other districts. In South Arcot, the yield is expected to be only 85 per cent of the normal due mainly to insect attack and insufficient and unfavourable rainfall. The seasonal factor for the Presidency works out to 93 per cent of the average as against 98 per cent in the prev ous year. On this basis, the yield is expected to be 1,710 000 tons of unshelled nuts as against 1,729,010 tons in the previous year, a decrease of one per cent. The yield in an average year is estimated at 1,634,000 tons.

4. The wholesale price of groundnut shelled, per imperial measure of 82·2/7 lb. as reported from important markets towards the close of December 1933 was Rs 3–10–0 in Cuddalore, Rs 3–6–0 in Vizagapatam and Nandyal and Rs 2–10–0 to Rs. 3–6–0 in the other districts. When compared with the prices of October 1933, these prices reveal a rise of 17 per cent in Nandyal and a fall of 12 to 15 per cent in Vellore and Salem 2 per cent in Adoni and 8 to 9 per cent in the other stations.

5. Figures by districts are given in the statement appended.

NOTICE OF CONDITIONS OF ISSUE OF FIXED FEE FOREIGN LIQUOR LICENCES.

No. 1.—The following notification is issued in supersession of Notification No 2, dated 18th January 1923, published in the Fort St. George Gazette, Part II, dated 23rd January 1923.

In exercise of the powers conferred on him under section 4 (g) of the Madras Abkari Act, 1886, the Commissioner of Excise hereby prescribes, under section 24 of the Act, the following rules for regulating the issue of licences on fixed fee for the compounding, blending, bottling and sale of portable foreign liquors, locally-made 'foreign liquors' and coconut toddy arrack (toddy and 'foreign liquors' and coconut toddy arrack (toddy and arrack) from and after the 1st April 1934 within the limits of the Madras Presidency :—

1. The term 'foreign liquor' in these rules includes all wines, spirits and beer imported into the Presidency by sea or land ; plain rectified spirits imported or locally made and on which the tariff rate of duty has been paid ; and beer brewed in India or beer imported in a condensed form and afterwards converted into potable beer and duly assessed, but excludes locally-made 'foreign' liquor, denatured spirits, coconut toddy arrack and ordinary arrack. In the case of licences to chemists, druggists and other approved firms or persons, however, for the sale of pure rectified spirits only, the term 'foreign liquor' means pure rectified spirits imported from foreign countries by sea or manufactured in this country and passed at the tariff rate of duty.

"Locally-made 'foreign' liquor" is spirit manufactured or compounded in British India and made in colour and flavour to resemble gin, brandy, whisky or rum imported from foreign countries and includes 'milk punch' and other liquor into the composition of which only such spirit enters. It is issued at Rs 21-4-0 per proof gallon ; its sale is permitted in all foreign liquor shops except those licensed for the exclusive sale of beer, medicated wines and rectified spirits.

'Coconut toddy arrack' is spirit manufactured from toddy at the Chowghat distillery in Malabar and issued at Rs. 21-4-0 per proof gallon ; its sale is permitted in all foreign liquor shops except those licensed for the exclusive sale of beer, medicated wines and rectified spirits. The maximum limit of private possession is two imperial gallons.

NOTE.—(1) The minimum strengths at which imported and locally made 'foreign liquors' are issued are 25° U.P. for gin, 30° U.P. for Colombo arrack and coconut toddy arrack and 35° U.P. for all other kinds of spirits including Indian arrack, except denatured spirits.

(2) Holders of foreign liquor licences should not dispose of any liquor imported by them and cleared from the Customs House on payment of purchase duty before acquainting themselves with the true strength of the liquor and satisfying themselves that it is not below the minimum applicable at such. If on test at the Chemical Examiner's Laboratory it is found that any such liquor is below the minimum saleable strength and has been sold, the penalty rules will be rigidly enforced against such licensees.

(3) Holders of foreign liquor licences should send samples of liquors of various orders, imported by them from time to time, for test in the Provincial Excise Laboratory and should not sell them until the result of the test is made known.

(4) Rectified spirits' includes 'absolute alcohol.'

'Indian' beer is beer brewed in India [sic] which contains at least two bushels of malt and two pounds of hops per hogshead and in the manufacture of which jaggery or crude cane sugar is employed, [sic] which is brewed at a higher original gravity than 1,055° on a standard saccharometer and [sic] the maximum price of which at the brewery is Rs. 60* per hogshead plus the excise duty in force at the time of issue.

2. Licences for the sale of foreign liquors, locally-made 'foreign' liquors and coconut toddy arrack shall be of the following descriptions :—

1. F.L.-1. Wholesale licences for the sale of foreign liquor, locally-made 'foreign' liquor and coconut toddy arrack, not to be drunk on the premises.—These will be issued on an annual fee of Rs 1,000 in Madras and Rs. 500 in other districts at the discretion of Collectors. Under these licences the sale of liquor in quantities less than two imperial gallons or a dozen repeated quart bottles or two dozen repeated pint bottles of each kind at a time is prohibited. The holders of the licence will have the privilege of issuing to bonafide dealers, to recognized clubs and messes and to respectable private persons samples in quantities not exceeding one quart in the case of beer and one pint in the case of other liquors. These issues of samples should be separately exhibited in the accounts. In Madras town, holders of this licence will not be allowed to sell 'Indian' beer. Holders of this licence are prohibited from selling coconut toddy arrack in bulk to private persons in Malabar district and are permitted to sell it to such persons only in bottles, sealed and labelled in accordance with the bottling rules (c).

* The supply of Indian beer from Bangalore Brewery will be restricted to those which have obtained beer from that brewery during 1932-33.

II. F.L.-2 and F.L.-4 Retail licences for the sale of foreign liquor, locally-made 'foreign' liquor and coconut toddy arrack not to be drunk on the premises (a).—There will be of two kinds—one (F.L.-2) for the sale of all kinds of foreign liquor except 'Indian' beer and of locally made 'foreign' liquor and coconut toddy arrack and the other (F.L.-4) for the sale of beer brewed in India.

(a) "The licence will be issued at the discretion of the Commissioner and Collectors on payment of an annual fee of Rs. 1,000 in the Nilgiris except Gudalur Rs. 750 in the town of Madura and in Gudalur, Rs. 700 in towns having a population of 25,000 and over and in Kodaikanal, Veraval, Cochin and Ambasamudram and Rs. 200 in the rest of the Presidency". Under these licences the sale of liquor in a quantity less than one reputed pint and greater than two Imperial gallons in one transaction will be prohibited.

(b) Retail licence (F.L.-4) for the sale of beer brewed in India will be issued to successful bidders for beer shops on payment of an annual fee of Rs. 60.

III. F.L.-5 Licences for the sale of brandy by chemists on the prescription of a qualified medical practitioner.—These will be issued by Collectors on an annual fee of Rs. 5.

IV. F.L.-7. Hotel licences for the supply of refreshments in hotels and boarding houses.—These will be of two classes and subject to payment of an annual fee of Rs. 500 or Rs. 250 in Madras, of Rs. 100 or Rs. 50 on the Nilgiris, and of Rs. 50 or Rs. 25 in the rest of the Presidency, as may in each case be determined by the Collector. No liquor may be sold under these licences otherwise than to residents in hotels and boarding houses for their own use and that of their guests, or to casual visitors requiring liquor with the meal or meals supplied in them.

F.L.-8. In Madras a holder of a hotel licence desirous of setting up and maintaining in his hotel a bar or bars may, on payment of a monthly fee of Rs. 100 for a first-class bar or Rs. 50 for a second-class bar, be granted a separate licence to be called a bar licence. This will cover the sale of foreign liquor, locally-made 'foreign' liquor and coconut toddy arrack under the same conditions and to the same extent as the tavern licence.

In Madras, special bar licences will also be issued to others than holders of hotel licences with the previous sanction of the Commissioner. The fees in such cases will be fixed by the Commissioner and the licence will entitle the holders to sell to all comers.

V. F.L.-9 and F.L.-10. Refreshment-room licences will be of two classes—

For refreshment rooms maintained by, or under the supervision and control of, railway companies and properties or managers of lines of rail carriage for the supply on the premises of travellers by such railways or rail lines.*—The annual fee payable for each licence will be fixed by the Commissioner from time to time. Under these licences liquor may be sold to bona fide travellers, or to other persons served with regular meals in the rooms for consumption on the premises to any extent, provided that no more than one reputed quart of spirits or two reputed quarts of any other kind of liquor sold at the refreshment-room may be sold at one time to any such traveller for removal from the premises.

(b) F.L.-10. For refreshment-rooms in which the sale of liquor is ordinarily combined with the supply of meals or of sandwiches prepared and served in the European manner.—The annual fee will be Rs. 600 in Madras and Rs. 75 in the rest of the Presidency. It will at all times be optional with the Collector to withdraw licences of this description if it should appear that the sale of liquor to persons who have not partaken of meals in the refreshment-room is permitted to such an extent or so habitually that the refreshment-room may fairly be classed as a tavern. Sale of liquor for removal from the premises will not be allowed under these licences. The premises to be used for the sale of liquor under these licences must be at least of the monthly rentable value of Rs. 50 in Madras and in Cotacamund and Coonoor Municipalities and of Rs. 25 in the rest of the Presidency.

VI. F.L.-11 Occasional licences, such as licences for the sale at refreshment stalls in connexion with race meetings and public entertainments.—These will be granted by Collectors at their discretion for periods not exceeding ten days at one time and at such fees not exceeding Rs. 100 on each occasion as they may determine. No removal of liquor from the premises will be allowed under these licences.

VII. Special licences will also be granted by Collectors in consultation with the officers of the Excise department when the circumstances are such as not to allow of the issue of licences of any of the above descriptions on such terms and conditions and for such periods as they may on each occasion determine.

VIII. F.L.-12. Auctioneer's licences.—Annual fee, Rs. 5. The following are important provisions of this licence:—
